589. WARRING STATES: State of Chu, 350-250 BC,
 AE spade money, H-3.470, large flat handle square foot spade type, pei bi dang jin on obverse, shi huo on reverse in archaic script, top broken and repaired, Fine $600 - 800

The State of Chu was an ancient Chinese state in the Yangtze valley during the Zhou Dynasty. Originally Chu was considered a viscounty, but starting from King Wu in the early 8th century BC, the rulers of Chu declared themselves kings on an equal footing with the Zhou rulers. Originally known as Jing and then as Jingchu, Chu occupied vast areas of land at its height, including most of the present-day provinces of Hubei and Hunan, along with parts of Chongqing, Guizhou, Henan, Anhui, Jiangxi, Jiangsu, Zhejiang, and Shanghai. The hao in the reverse inscription shi hao probably refers to ten ant nose type coins. These spades are thick and robust with well developed rims all the way around, usually crudely cast with a large round hole in the top.

590. WARRING STATES: Anonymous, 400-220 BC, AE knife money,

A zi was the weight of 6 zhu and liang here means "2", therefore 2 zi was valued as 12 zhu.

Imperial China

594. XIN: Wang Mang, 7-23 AD, AE gold key money, H-9.12, yi dao ping wu qian (One Knife worth five thousand) with the words yi dao written in gold inlay, minor encrustation, VF-EF, RR $2,500 - 3,500

At that time 5000 Wu Shu was equal to 1/2 cattie of gold. A cattie weighed about 120 grams, so these knives were valued at about 60 grams (2 ounces) of pure gold. We have not been able to find a relative value for gold in ancient China, but in the same time frame in the Roman Empire, two ounces of gold would have been at least a year's wages to an average citizen, thus the problem with this issue. It was fiat currency with a named value very high, but with little intrinsic value.

Palace cash may or may not be considered a type of amulet. These were made as New Year's gifts to people in the Imperial Palace, usually eunuchs and guards, who often hung the smaller ones below lamps, the larger ones below curtains. Hartill, in "Qing Cash" (Royal Numismatic Society, 2003), agrees they were handed out as gifts in the Palace, but only upon the establishment of each new reign title, and were wrapped in red cloth.

Struck on the 7-8 fen weight standard rather than the nominal 1 qian standard as the weight is only 2.95 grams and thus was likely struck after the mint reopened in 1896, but before it shut down in 1900. Like other provincial mints in the late Qing Dynasty, the mint in Zhili was producing 1,000 regulation struck cash coins at the cost of 2,237 cash and thus losing a great deal on the production of these coins. This explains the rarity of most provincial machine-struck square hole cash coins, with the exception of Guangdong and Fujian provinces. Most mints returned to casting cash coins as the costs of using western machinery to produce them was not cost-effective.

675. QING: Guang Xu, 1875-1908, AE cash, Tianjin mint, Zhili Province, H-22.1463, machine struck from 1896 to approximately 1899, variety: bao left leg from corner; square head tong; smaller characters either side, lustrous and decent strike but slightly rough planchet as usual, a lovely example of this type! AU, S $150 - 200
